DOING THE
MOST GOOD

Dear Friends,

For 155 years, The Salvation Army has been engaged in battles to alleviate human need in communities around the world. The Army's founder, William Booth started out with a burning desire to bring men and women to Christ. Booth soon realized that survival was the first priority of people struggling to meet their basic needs, and to reach their souls he had to first ensure they had food, shelter, and clothing.

Those needs, among others, still exist today. The fight is ongoing, and thanks to your support in 2019, The Salvation Army in the Carolinas continues to provide comfort, care and compassion wherever and whenever they are needed.

In the pages of this annual report, you will read about people who were overwhelmed by their circumstances. But you'll also read how your support has helped them overcome.

Thank you for joining us in this fight.

God Bless,

Major Philip and Captain Rebekah Swyers
